Congress Overrides Veto, Curbs War Strikes

QUICK ACTION BRINGS WAVE OF CONFUSION

Union Leaders Call It Major Disaster; More Miners Quit
in New Revolt.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 26—Congress, in a stunning reversal of President Roosevelt, put American production today under the whip of an anti-strike law, a "major disaster" Republicans saw in it a blow to the administration and a reversal of the coal miners' explosion in a new revolt.

Warlike action on the Congress-Smith-Roosevelt bill forced the long-awaited issue yesterday. Anti-strike set in today and with it came doubt and confusion on the full effects of the law. Now it could be applied to the coal, walkouts—and a certain amount of fear as to the ultimate reaction of the workbenches of the "land of democracy."

Attention focused on the coal fields where 250,000 miners—about half the total—had failed to return to work despite orders from John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers ending the recent walkout, the third in seven weeks. On top of that, passage of the law was followed immediately by fresh strikes by 20,000 more miners.

Momentous Day
Mr. Roosevelt touched off a momentous day when he vetoed the anti-strike law as more likely to foment labor troubles than to settle them. Except for the coal strike, he insisted labor had kept its no-strike pledge since Pearl Harbor.

With speed unequalled in recent years, the senate and the house promptly overrode his veto to make law the measure providing fines and imprisonment for persons indulging in or aiding war strikes in government-operated industries, and outlawing stoppages in other war plants without a ballot of the workers. The law also broadens the powers of the war labor board.

So rapid and unexpected was the congressional action that the justice department was unprepared to say how it would proceed to enforce the new law.

Nor was there any pronouncement from the war labor board concerning its plans now that it is given power to force the attendance of witnesses. Lacking such authority in the past, the board steadfastly had been ignored by President Lewis of the UMW in its handling of the coal war controversy.

Sharp Rebuff
On one subject there was general agreement—it was the sharpest congressional rebuff handed the President since the supreme court reorganization bill was blocked in 1937. It followed a preliminary house rebellion which saw the administration's price roll-back and subsidy program slipped down.

It was the eighth time a Roosevelt veto had been overridden since 1933.

With eagerness that presaged the result, the senate took up the veto five minutes after the President's message was read late in the afternoon. The senators overrode it by a 56 to 23 vote. 29 Democrats joining 27 Republicans to override Mr. Roosevelt, and 19 Democrats, five Republicans and one Progressive voting to uphold the Executive. Among those voting to override was Democratic Leader Hill of Alabama.

The senate's action was reported to the house while it was in the middle of a heated debate on the anti-subsidy bill. Cries of "Vote" immediately went up. Defeating tactics by a few members were futile.

With a margin of nine votes, the senate overrode the veto by a two-thirds vote being reached in each case, the house overrode the veto as quickly as it could be called. Voting against the President were 114 Democrats and 130 Republicans.

ONLY HALF OF MINERS BACK

8,000 More Leave Pennsylvania Pits; Final Decisions Expected by Monday.

By The Associated Press
PITTSBURGH, June 26—The coal strike spread to a few more big mines today, despite the newly enacted anti-strike law, and an atmosphere of uncertainty hung over the coal fields while the real test on the back-to-the-mines movement was expected Monday.

In the great producing state of Pennsylvania, whose mines are expected to be operating approximately 25 per cent of normal, about 8,000 more men left the pits this morning. Most of these were in the anthracite field in the eastern part of the state.

Further picketing occurred to aid in closing of three mines in the soft coal fields of western Pennsylvania.

In neighboring West Virginia, the second largest mining state, prospects for normal operations by Monday were much brighter with more simultaneous mines reopening during the day.

Monday in many mining communities of West Virginia and Pennsylvania at which district and local leaders of the United Mine Workers planned to urge all men to go back.

Expects Men To Return
At Uniontown, Pa., Michael Honus, secretary-treasurer of UMW district 4, said: "I expect all of the men to be working Monday."

Similar expressions came from other union leaders but the additional walkouts today came unexpectedly and in western Pennsylvania raised the possibility of further curtailment in steel production unless the men go back by Monday.

Nationally, there was little change in the situation in the coal fields with operations estimated roughly about one-half based on comment by operator and union sources. Slightly more than 250,000.

Report Company Cleaned Out with Bayonets, Grenades.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 26—Attacking Russian troops broke into Finnish trenches on the northern Karelian front last night and wiped out about a company of the enemy in savage bayonet and grenade fighting, the Soviet noon communique said today.

Two German tanks, a reconnoitering attempt in the Svyatka area southwest of Orel, and south of Balakleya where they attempted to cross the Donets river, were beaten off with enemy losses, the war bulletin said.

Russian artillery action also was reported near Sevsk where started fires at two enemy strong points.

Heavy losses were suffered by the Germans in their attempted crossing of the Donets south of Balakleya and they were forced to retreat behind a smoke screen from concentrated Russian fire, said the bulletin.

Artillery engagements were reported also on the western front, but the noon communique made no reference to the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow where the Russians said in the midnight communique they drove the Germans from a settlement and beat off three counterattacks.

SENATE VOTES BAN ON FOOD SUBSIDIES

Both Houses Now Committed Against Roll-Back Plan.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 26—In a defeat of administration forces, the senate voted 39 to 37 today to prohibit the payment of government subsidies to roll back retail food prices.

By its action, the senate approved an amendment by Senator Clark (D-Mo.) to a pending bill increasing the lending authority of the commodity credit corporation by $100,000,000 and extending its life two years.

The house passed a similar bill yesterday increasing the CCC's funds $500,000,000 but with provision outlawing any subsidies other than those to which the government already is committed.

Thus both houses were on record for abandonment of the administration's food price roll back program. Before its adoption, however, the Clark proposal had been amended to permit the continuation of subsidies to meet higher wartime transportation costs, to encourage agricultural and mineral production and to finance the importation of strategic materials.

Completion of action by the senate later on the bill would send the measure back to the house, where it probably would be assigned to a joint conference committee to compose the differences.

Auto Tax Stamp Sale Speeds Up at Postoffice

Sale of federal auto tax stamps has taken on speed as the July 1 deadline approaches, figures at the Marion postoffice show. Figures this morning showed that 10,500 of the 12,000 required at the postoffice had been sold. Thursday receipts amounted to $2,000, and yesterday's amounted to $1,700. Up until this week the sale of the stamps was "slow," postoffice employees stated.

(An NBC broadcast from Algiers said the raid was concentrated into 18 minutes and "by the time the last squadron came in, smoke and dust were so heavy that further observation was impossible.") burning in the harbor and railway station.

Sardinia also came in for a heavy attack by the RAF's Wellingtons which selected Olbia, the port and air base in the northern part of the island, for their Thursday night target. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced.

Decks and freight yards at both places were carpeted with mushrooming bomb bursts, the communique said.

Target "Smothered"

Describing the American attack on Messina, an official report said "the port area and marshalling yards were thoroughly smothered by bomb bursts and when the last raider attacked there was so much smoke and dust that further observation of damage was impossible."

A Reuters dispatch said 200 tons of bombs were dropped in the 18-minute assault.

Attacking without fighter protection, the B-17s met extremely violent opposition from enemy interceptors as well as intense anti-aircraft fire.

Fighting desperately to block the continuing series of devastating allied raids which already are crippling Sicily's lines of communication and supply, enemy fighter-bombers swept over the high-flying Fortresses, dropping fragmentation bombs intended to explode among the dense formations.

"Photographs taken from the Fortresses showed two strikes and two damaging misses on a 400-foot merchant vessel in the harbor, one hit on the foredeck of a 500-foot ship and hits among a large number of buildings, warehouses, railroad tracks and station facilities," said an official account of the raid on Messina.

Railway Station Fires Started

"Reconnaissance pictures taken after the raid showed a large fire burning in the railway station."

Axii fighters braved even their own risk in efforts to fight a way through the compact Fortresses formations, and one of the bomber flights was followed by the enemy to within sight of the African shore.

But only three allied planes were listed as missing after all operations yesterday and Thursday night.

Twenty enemy aircraft were reported destroyed during the daylight operations and one the preceding night. Three allied planes were listed as missing.

By daylight yesterday aircraft of the coastal air force attacked a medium sized merchant vessel and left it burning, the war bulletin said.

The Flying Fortresses did "considerable damage" at Messina yesterday, according to the Saturday Italian communique as broadcast from Rome and recorded by The Associated Press.

(Reggio, Calabria, one of the two mainland terminals of the Messina ferry San Nicandro, on the Adriatic side of the mainland and Vizzini, 28 miles southwest of Catania in Sicily, also were bombed, the communique said.)

Italian Account of Raid

(The Italians said 18 allied planes were shot down during the day at a loss of two Italian planes. An Italian submarine failed to return to its base, it added.)

Twenty enemy aircraft were destroyed in the same period. (The number of Flying Fortresses participating in the attack on Messina was not given in dispatches from allied headquarters, but on the basis of previous raids it was evident that more than 100 took part.)

(An NBC broadcast from Algiers said the raid was concentrated into 18 minutes and "by the time the last squadron came in, smoke and dust were so heavy that further observation was impossible.")

At the same time an RAF communique from Malta announced a fighter-bomber raid from the fortress island 90 miles to the south of Sicily, swept over the Italian island attacking various targets.

Shuttle Bombing Experiment Spells New Woe for Axis

WASHINGTON, June 26—There are ominous portents for the axis in the British experiment in round-trip shuttle bombing flights between England and North Africa.

It raises a question whether the whole weight of allied air power, in England and Africa, may suddenly be concentrated to blast invasion bridgeheads through the western or southern walls of the axis European fortress when the moment comes.

That possibility must double the strain under which the axis high command is laboring in displaying its defensive forces to guard three fronts simultaneously. It can not hope to match the awe-inspiring air power that could be thus massed virtually overnight. What happened to Panatella well could prove a mild foretaste of what might happen to any selected continental invasion bridgehead.

The shuttle-bombing experiment, if that is what it was, brought two enemy targets, Friedrichshafen in southwestern Germany and Spezia in northwestern Italy, under fire. The big ships threw their bomb loads some 500 miles to the target in each case, then 700 miles more to Tunisia, toward bound and to England on the return trip.

The direct, single flight from England to Tunisia across France would shorten the route by nearly 400 miles. That means it would be wholly practicable to shift a substantial portion of the allied heavy bomber strength from England to Tunisia or from Tunisia to England for a combined operation at any time.

GREAT FIRES STARTED; 30 BOMBERS LOST

Millions Flee Bomb-Scarred
Ruhr After 7th Straight
Night of Destruction.

By The Associated Press

British sky fleets heaped new devastation on the heart of the Ruhr industrial valley before dawn today, blasting the steel cities of Bochum and Gelsenkirchen, and the Germans, beginning to wail, launched an embittered "hate campaign" to whip up morale on the Nazi home front.

Great fires were left raging in both cities, the British air ministry announced, although heavy clouds obscured an accurate check of the damage. Thirty RAF bombers were listed as missing.

Dispatches from Bern, Switzerland, said between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 persons had already fled the bomb-torn Ruhr as the allied aerial offensive, striking by day and night, roared through its seventh consecutive night.

Mediterranean Drive Mounts

In the Mediterranean, the assault on Italy's anti-invasion outposts increased in violence, with the largest force of U. S. Flying Fortresses ever sent out in that theater spilling their bombs on Messina, Sicily, while RAF Wellingtons hammered the axis air base at Albia, Sardinia.

With their deadly fire power, the Fortresses destroyed 20 enemy aircraft, it was announced.

As a heavy force of British bombers spread new destruction last night in the German Ruhr, hitting Bochum and Gelsenkirchen, one military observer in London declared that neutralizing of this great industrial valley was nearing completion.

This observer, who can not be identified by name, estimated that nearly 30,000 tons of bombs, many of them block-busters, had been cast upon this compact Nazi industrial region since the massive bombing experiment started three and a half months ago.

The normal industrial haze over the Ruhr now is reported thinned out and is said, in fact, to have actually disappeared in some places.

During the three and one-half month period, more than 500 bombers have been lost, this source said, and some 3,000 men have been killed or captured.

Coal Mines, Factories Targets

In last night's attack coal mining and steel plants were among the objectives.

The British bombers, following by only a few hours the United States heavy bombers which attacked undisclosed targets yesterday in Germany, encountered the same "cloud formations" as the Americans and it was reported that results could not be observed accurately.

However, the air ministry communique reported that large fires were started in Bochum and Gelsenkirchen.

Struck new defensive squadrons which the Germans have thrown into the battle of the Ruhr were out in force, the British announced, and there were many air battles. Two enemy planes were reported destroyed.

Yesterday a fighting over North America was reported by the American today was described by an American air force spokesman as "a prolonged battle of the clouds" and it was said that "favorable conditions were created in which the bombers selected their targets as they could on the return journey."

Attack Center

One group found an enemy merchant convoy over the North sea and slipped through a break in the clouds to attack. Results could not be determined.

A German broadcast, reporting the convoy attack off the Dutch coast, said their ship did not suffer any notable damage.

Headquarters of the European theater of operations of the U. S. Army said U. S. heavy bombers had destroyed nearly 100 enemy fighters in their first two evenings' attack, while loading many of their own bombers, headquarters, which first announced that 18 American planes were missing from yesterday's attack, said today that only 17 were lost. One of the missing planes returned.

A communique from the Eighth U. S. Air Force headquarters said: "The primary task of heavy bombers operating in daylight against enemy industry targets is to slow enemy armament production, but attrition against enemy fighters is an important secondary consideration."

The air ministry communique reported British intruders also attacked airfields and other targets.

Christianity As The Way

A SERMONETTE BY REV. HENRY MAAG Pastor of Prospect Street Methodist Church

John 14:5, "I am the Way." Acts 19:23, "And about that time there arose no small stir concerning the Way."

LIFE has often been likened to a journey. All of us feel that we are travelers bound for some unknown destination. In going on a journey we usually decide beforehand what way we shall go, for there are many ways to a place, though there may be only one right way. So in life's journey there are many ways of going, but they can be reduced to two—the right way and the wrong way. In one of the earliest Christian writings, the Epistle of Barnabas, we find these words: "There are two ways, the one is of light and the other of darkness; and there is a great difference between the two ways." We all agree that there is a right and a wrong way of living. Only a fool wants to go the wrong way. All reasonable people want to go life's journey on the right road. But the problem which has perplexed the wise men of all ages is: "What is the right road, which is the true way?"

Christianity is the answer to the question, the solution of the problem; for Christianity is the way. Christianity, before it was called Christianity, was known as the Way. Jesus said He was the Way; but Thomas was not at all sure about knowing the way. He came back at Jesus with the demand of such knowledge: "Lord, we know not whither Thou goest, and how can we know the way?" Thomas was a doubter, but his doubting was a sign of his eagerness to know the truth.

In the Book of the Acts we are informed that St. Paul had preached the gospel with marked success in the city of Ephesus, and already the effect of his preaching was attracting general notice, and even affecting the general life. The people in Ephesus felt that much would have to be changed if this new religion were to replace the established idolatry; "that many profitable vested interests, commercial and ecclesiastical, would be endangered; that many comfortable time-honored customs would be dissipated; that the whole aspect and habit of Ephesian society would be strangely transformed. As the perception of all these probabilities grew in men's minds, they were greatly disturbed." "About that time there was no small stir concerning the Way." And Paul's opponents spoke evil of the Way, and later there was a riot about the Way. In Jerusalem Paul confessed with shame that he had been a persecutor of the Way. It was at Antioch that the disciples of the Way were first called Christians.

From the beginning Christianity proclaimed a new way, the right way of life. That claim has been largely obscured throughout the years, and now there are many other claimants all voicing what they consider to be the true way of life. "Among the many voices of the present age can be heard the angry tones of fascism, nazism and communism, each completely certain that it is the way. Even complimentary democracy is beginning to let its voice be heard. But the ordinary man or woman, these voices are like those of the tower of Babel, all confusion and noise," says Gordon Harrell. We want a simple, straightforward, and reliable way of life. Christianity offers that way, but is being the Way."

REMODEL Keep Your Home in Good Condition for HOME DEFENSE REPAIR

Make It LAST!

Your Vacuum Cleaner
By GLADYS DEGNER
Associated Press Writer

A vacuum cleaner takes on a new importance when it can't be repaired. Take your vacuum cleaner, for example. Now that the vacuum cleaner companies are cleaning up on Hirohito and the vacuum cleaner will have to last for the duration.

If you haven't always done so, it is now time to be sure your vacuum cleaner is in good condition. Here are a few tips to guide you in prolonging its life.

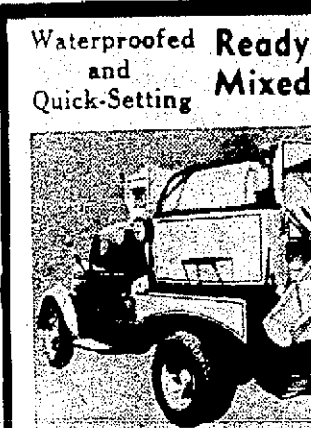

1. Follow to the letter the instructions that came with your vacuum. If you throw them away, the manufacturer will gladly send you a duplicate.

2. Oil the motor as often as called for.

3. Empty the dust bag every time you use your vacuum. An accumulation of dust will lessen the force of the suction as well as make a haven for mites.

4. Keep the brushes free from hair and threads. An old comb may be helpful. Replace the brushes if the tufts become worn. They should extend below the lips of the nozzle to clean effectively.

5. Avoid running your vacuum over pins, nails, coins or metal objects which may damage the fan. Pick them up by hand.

Householders Are Urged To Winterize Homes To Save Fuel

High government officials are leading a nationwide campaign to urge all householders, who have not already done so, to "winterize" their homes now in preparation for a probably critical necessity to conserve all kinds of fuel in the next heating season.

"War brings with it unprecedented demands for fuel of all kinds," Harold L. Jakes, petroleum administrator, said recently. "Vast quantities of coal, oil, gas and other fuels are needed to keep the nation's war plants producing, its railroads and motor vehicles rolling, and its ships ploughing the Seven Seas."

"The staggering burdens placed on transport facilities and industry inevitably create fuel shortages. This year, as the third winter of war approaches, we must face the grim prospect that when cold weather comes, the fuel situation will become more acute. In some localities it may be dangerously critical."

"So your government asks you to act now to get ready for next winter. In case you have oil-fired equipment, remember that production of new equipment has been stopped for the duration. Therefore, have your entire heating plant checked over now. If cleaning, adjustments or repairs are necessary, make them."

"And no matter what type of fuel you use, there are a number of things you can do to winter-proof your home so as to get substantially more heat and comfort for less fuel. Your home may need insulation to check the loss of heat through walls or ceilings or both. Weatherstripping or caulking of windows, installation of storm sash and doors, and like measures, can make a surprising difference in your winter-time comfort, while saving as much as 40 per cent."

What Can Be Done
"So, I repeat, get more heat from less fuel this winter with insulation, weatherstripping and caulking of windows, with storm sash and doors and similar improvements to your home. By so doing, you help your country and yourself."

America's ability to meet next winter's fuel shortage will depend in large part on steps taken early to conserve heat through proper conditioning of homes. Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, stated in asking the conservation division of WPB to work closely with other government agencies, including OPA, PAW, FHA and ODT in developing the fuel conservation program for 1943.

"Before we begin burning fuel next fall," said Nelson, "we should be very sure that the heat container—the house itself—is prepared to use fuel most efficiently." Pointing out that most homes can be "heat-sealed" without the use of highly critical materials, Nelson urged home owners to take immediate steps to condition their buildings.

"Building technicians in the conservation division say that home conditioning—sometimes a relatively simple operation—can save up to one-third or more of fuel consumption," he said. "Certain of the installation jobs can be done by the home owner himself, but some of them need to be handled by contractors. Wherever this is the case, immediate action is urged, as the manpower shortage likewise is felt in this field, and orders may need to be placed well in advance."

Fuel Savings
"Insulation for walls and ceilings, storm sash for windows and doors, weatherstripping and caulking are among the principal measures for preventing heat loss and insuring greater comfort with less fuel."

"Arranging for insulation—like ordering fuel—is something that because of wartime shortages of transportation materials, and labor, must be done well in advance of the heating season. If the home occupant is to be assured of sufficient comfort during the colder months, store owners, school superintendents, church boards, office building managers, are urged to take similar action, to make certain that their buildings—which in the aggregate consume very large amounts of fuel—are properly "winterized."

"It is expected that the total fuel saving that can accrue from application of home insulation on a national scale will help greatly in correcting shortages due to difficulty in production and transportation."

IF THERE'S NO GOOD PLACE in the dining room where you can build in an open-shelved cupboard, how about building one against the wall? The decorative type shown above takes up little room.

No housekeeper ever has enough places to put things. Even if she's lucky enough to live in a house with plenty of closets, that doesn't solve more than half of her problem.

For the things which every woman accumulates in her home as the years go on divide themselves into two classes, the utilitarian and the decorative. Dr.

to put it another way, the things that can be kept in closets and closed cupboards, and the things she wants to have out in the open, where others, as well as she herself, can enjoy them.

Household linens, everyday dishes and such things, of course, go behind doors. Likewise, the most of the "best" china usually stays on a safe closet shelf. But that still leaves the special pieces of china and glass, the colorful peasant ware, the pet knick-knacks, and the hobby collection of pitchers, teapots, china and glass animals and so forth.

So that's where the home woodworker or the local carpenter comes in, to put up shelves in some spot where your special pieces can be most effectively displayed.

HOW AMERICA BOMBS THE AXIS

Planes Lead the Ground Forces

(Third in a series on methods of attack used by bombers of the U. S. Army Air Forces as explained by instructors at the world's largest school for bombardiers.)

By The Associated Press

AAF BOMBARDIER SCHOOL, MIDLAND, Texas — American ground forces are about to launch a general attack.

The role of bombers is not to wipe out enemy front-line troops but to prevent support from reaching them. Ground forces will advance in sufficient strength to push the enemy back if air support accomplishes its aim.

Every bomb dropped upon an enemy factory, railroad or warehouse will lessen the strength he can muster at the front. Tactics in supporting a ground advance therefore will largely be similar to those of general bombardment, but will be intensified and concentrated.

Generally speaking an attempt will first be made to "neutralize" the enemy's air power. This will not only remove a prime danger to U. S. ground forces but will allow the attacking planes greater freedom. Bombers will hit the hostile airfields as suddenly as possible.

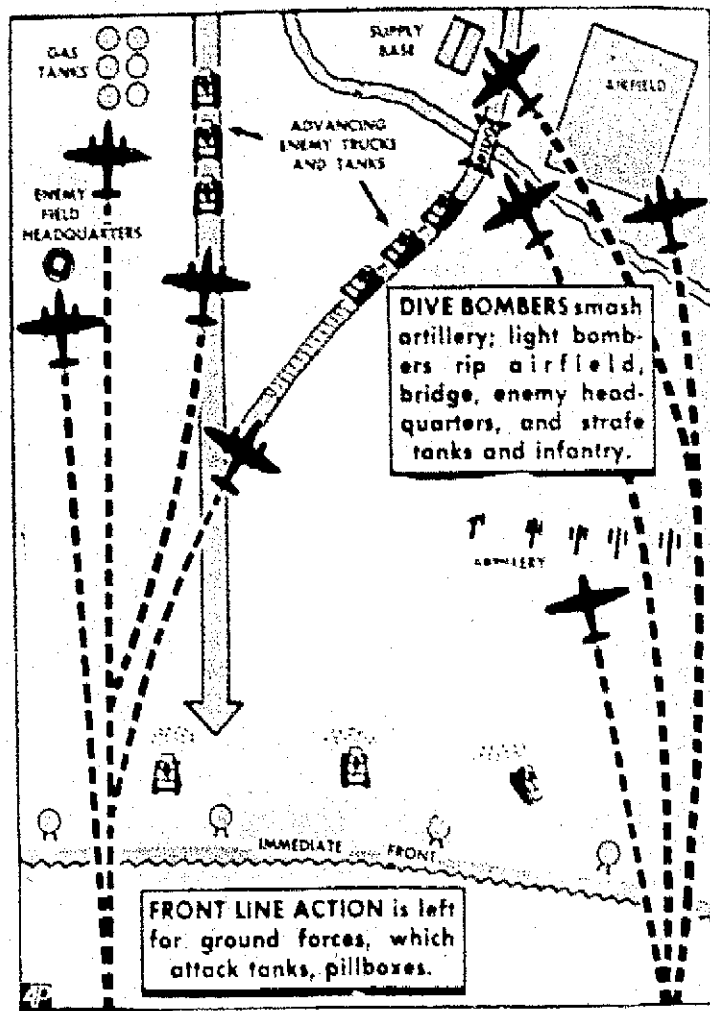

A number of bombers fly on reconnaissance missions, dropping their loads on any likely targets they might find.

Medium and light bombers hit roads, bridges and railroads. They strike the supply and maintenance columns so essential to armored and mechanized units, as well as such units themselves which might be found moving up.

Effectiveness of supporting a ground advance is not always measured in terms of actual destruction. If a column of men flees in panic along a highway and blocks traffic, that is better than killing half the men in the column.

Generally, planes will keep well ahead of the ground forces, especially on open battlefields. Friendly and enemy forces often become so thoroughly intermingled in modern fluid warfare that a bomb on the battle line would endanger Americans as well as the foe.

Gradual Demobilization
Plan Wins Favor in U.S.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 26—One aspect of the post-war world which worries many families is whether the men in the armed forces will be able to find jobs once they are demobilized.

It has been proposed that after peace comes the Army keep men in service until they are able to find civilian employment—in other words, that demobilization be a gradual process of fitting the soldiers back into the economic life of the nation. This of course assumes that soldiers would be given extended leaves to seek jobs in the areas where they may want to work.

At the present time there is considerable public sentiment in favor of just such a process of gradual demobilization. A nationwide survey finds that even among families who have a member in the armed forces, the dominant weight of sentiment is toward keeping soldiers in the service until such time as they can find definite employment.

This sentiment is prompted largely by the fact that, in the opinion of the majority, the men of the armed forces will have a hard time finding work when the war is over.

To probe public opinion on the issue of post-war employment for soldiers, the Institute has just completed a survey in which voters from coast to coast were asked two questions.

The first was: "Do you think the men in the armed forces will have trouble finding jobs when the war is over?"

Following is the vote of the general public, and also the attitude of those families who have a member in service at present:

General Public
Yes	36%
No	35%
Don't know	9%
Families With a Member in Armed Forces
Yes	35%
No	33%
Don't know	10%

The areas showing the least optimism were the South and the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast areas, where more than 60 per cent feel the home coming soldiers will have trouble finding work.

Gradual Demobilization

The second issue covered in the survey was:

"Do you think men should be released from the armed forces after the war if they have no jobs, or should they be kept in service until they can show they have jobs?"

General Public
Released After War	36%
Kept in Service Till They Find Jobs	30%
Undecided	12%
Families With Members in Armed Forces
Released After War	41%
Kept in Service Till They Find Jobs	48%
Undecided	11%

It is impossible, of course, to foresee the state of mind of the country in this respect when the war actually does come to a close. Families may be so eager to be reunited with their menfolk in the service that the dominant pull of public opinion may be toward immediate demobilization, regardless of economic conditions prevailing at home.

Post-war economic planners will nevertheless be interested in the nation's state of mind on the subject today, indicating as it does a willingness to waive natural family emotions in the interests of the economic well-being of the returning veterans.

Little Grand Circuit Harness Meet To End Tonight

Feature Event Won by Bonnie Volo; Freak Record Set.

BY LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

IN WHAT race officials described as a freak event before a record crowd in a harness racing program, Bonnie Volo, head No. 1, won the feature event in each of the nine heats making up last night's season-ending Little Grand Circuit program at the half-mile county fair ground track.

In two of the three events the rare winners were rated as record breakers by track experts. The third winner wasn't even expected to finish in the money, according to spectators by close track observers.

Another nine-heat card featured a three-heat free-for-all race which was arranged for the meet's final season tonight.

A few of the stable's quartered at the fairground since early in the month have already left here for other North Randall, Jackson Mich., or Old Orchard Beach, Me. However, a majority of the 250 or more horses quartered here at the height of the 15-day meeting are still on hand, awaiting an all-star program right down to the final heat.

Although he had driving assignments in every heat last night, Marion's Hugh Bell failed to add to his victory string and consequently went into tonight's program with 10 heat wins as compared to 17 for Gabe Cartlidge of Hanover, the leader. Cartlidge is not slated for duty tonight while Bell has drawn two driving chores. He will pilot Callie G, winner of last Saturday's free-for-all race, in the same type of event tonight and will be behind Vince Abbe in the 2:21 class race, final event of Marion's Little Grand Circuit season.

Winner of last night's feature, the $600 2:17 pace stake, was Bonnie Volo, a bay gelding owned by Art Sherrier of Lafayette, Ind., and driven by Clint Hodgins of Shelbyville, Ind. To Mr. Hodgins, one of the top notch drivers in the middle west, radio station WMRN presented a $50 United States war savings bond. Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion Broadcasting Co., made the presentation.

Glenyce, owned and driven by Louis A. Huber of Cincinnati, finished 1-1-1 in winning the 2:15 class trot, the supplementary affair.

And Doctor S from the stable of Elmer Junk of Washington C. II., won the 2:24 pace, final event of last night's semi-final card. Ernie Smith, popular central Ohio reinsman, was up behind Doctor S.

A crowd of 1,500 passed nearly $7,000 through the pari-mutuel windows, operators of the betting plant reported. Pay prices were unusually good except for the combination events. The daily double, on Bonnie Volo in the second race and Doctor S in the third, was worth only $6.20 to 53 ticket holders. The winning quinn combination, Doctor S and My Scott in the sixth race, paid $9.80 for $3.

All previous betting and attendance marks for a Marion Little Grand Circuit season have long been shattered. By way of example, last year's betting for

BAD LUCK STILL DOGGING FOOTSTEPS OF CHAS. WENSLOFF

Yank Rookie Adds to His Record of Unluckiest New-comer in Majors.

By The Associated Press

There are managers and players in the American league who will tell you the outstanding rookie pitcher in the junior circuit this season is Charley Wensloff of the New Yankees. This may be open to debate, but no one will question his right to be called the unluckiest.

Wensloff, called the "Iron man" of the Yankees' Kansas City farm last season, has received little of the publicity that has centered on the Athletics' Jesse Flores, the Senators' Milo Candini, the Tigers' Stubby Overmire and other newcomers.

Yet he has pitched a brand of ball that might well have earned him an undefeated rating instead of his present record of four wins and the same number of losses.

He has been a starting pitcher for New York ever since Manager Joe McCarthy looked him over in spring training.

Bad Luck in Big Doses

But what has happened to him in his nine starts has been terrific. He was beaten by Washington in his first outing 4-1, though he pitched seven-hit ball. His next loss was to the Chicago White Sox when Lee (Buck) Evers pitched a one-hitter. His third loss was to the St. Louis Browns 3-2, with all three St. Louis runs scoring through four Yankee errors. Evers pitched a one-hitter. His fourth was last Sunday when he had a streak of wildness against Washington and was banished from the game for disputing an umpire's decision on balls and strikes.

But the climax came in a twilight game at Boston last night, which resulted in a 2-2 tie in 11 innings after darkness forced a halt.

Joe Gordon, the stellar second baseman, who has been doing everything wrong ever since the last World Series, batted in the wrong place in first turn at the plate. In the second inning, Gordon was hit by a pitch and the Red Sox noticed that and called a time-out.

But on his second turn he slammed a drive against the fence that brought a tally home.

Run Nullified

Then Manager Joe Cronin of the Sox rushed out to the umpire and pointed out that Gordon had hit out of turn, nullifying the run. Gordon made an attempt to redeem himself by hitting his seventh home run of the season to tie the score in the ninth, but it turned out to be just another victory Wensloff should have had and missed.

The Senators gave ground to the Yankees, however, by dropping a 5-2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Cleveland beat Chicago White Sox 6-2 and the St. Louis Browns bumped the Detroit Tigers 6-3.

In the National League both the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers were beaten. The World champions and present National League leaders were shutout 6-0 by the Chicago Cubs and the Dodgers were outplayed by the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-2.

The Boston Braves beat the New York Giants 5-3. The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was postponed.

Marion Softball Scoring Hitting New High Marks; Experts Explain Why

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Why are softball scores running so high this year? Many a Marion fan has asked this question time and again and still has not received a satisfactory answer that covers all views and angles of the query.

By means of survey of men who should be considered representative of Marion softball, a reason compounded of many parts for the numerous scoring deluges was obtained. Persons interviewed included members of the softball commission, team managers, and finally the players themselves.

Principal reasons for the unusually high run making this season were found to be the following:

Lack of pre-season practice for most of the players; faulty maintenance of ball field conditions, long leading lower caliber of pitchers than in the past; presence of many inexperienced players in the Sunday School league; unbalanced leagues in respect to the relative strength of the teams loss of many of the best players to the armed forces; lack of team work in the case of many squads.

Before we go into detail about the above answers given by some of the city's prominent softbalists, here are some figures that furnish the actual proof that the scores this year have been flying higher than the proverbial kite.

Winners Average 11 Runs

The average score of a winning team in the Industrial Commercial league adding Sunday School combined is a trifling over 11 runs.

The loser's average tally is well over 3 1/2 runs.

The Sabbath loop is ahead of the stronger industrial league as far as high scores go. The average winner's mark in the four-team church league is about 11 1/3 tallies.

In the combined Industrial Commercial leagues, about 10 1/3 runs. The losing team's score runs exactly three corners among the 14 1/2 runs in the other circuit.

Huber's indicated Industrial team leads both leagues in run manufacturing with 11 1/2 per game. She has the second best defensive mark with 3 1/2. Epworth's perfect record church team has the number one mark in that department, allowing only two runs to be made against her in each game.

Greenwood, which is another seventh day team, has the second most potent scoring squad in organized Marion softball thus far this year, with an average of 10 per contest.

Universal Cooler, second place industrial league team, has an average of 8 1/2.

Presbyterian's three beaten church team has the worst defensive record, having permitted over 14 runs to be scored each game against her so far this season.

The last place Industrial representative, the Marion Engineer Depot, has had over eleven marks per game racked up by her opponents.

316 Runs To Date

Although the softball season is but four weeks old, a total of 316 runs have been scored in league competition up to the time of this article. Of these, 237 have been made by the victorious teams, and 79 by the losers.

There you have the statistics that do not lie. Now for the opinions of the softball men interviewed about the high scoring puzzle.

John Clark, manager of the Epworth team and the first president of the Marion softball commission, gave his view on the question as this. "Especially in the Sunday School league, there are many inexperienced players. We have many promising boys of 10 and 17 years of age but they have a lot to learn about batting and other fundamentals of the game. In a year or two, some of these lads will be the softball stars of Marion but right now are insufficiently trained in the game to play any real brand of softball."

"Another reason might be the lower caliber of pitchers this year. None of the star pitchers of other years are in the game and they have gone into the army and their loss has affected the batting averages of many hitters positively."

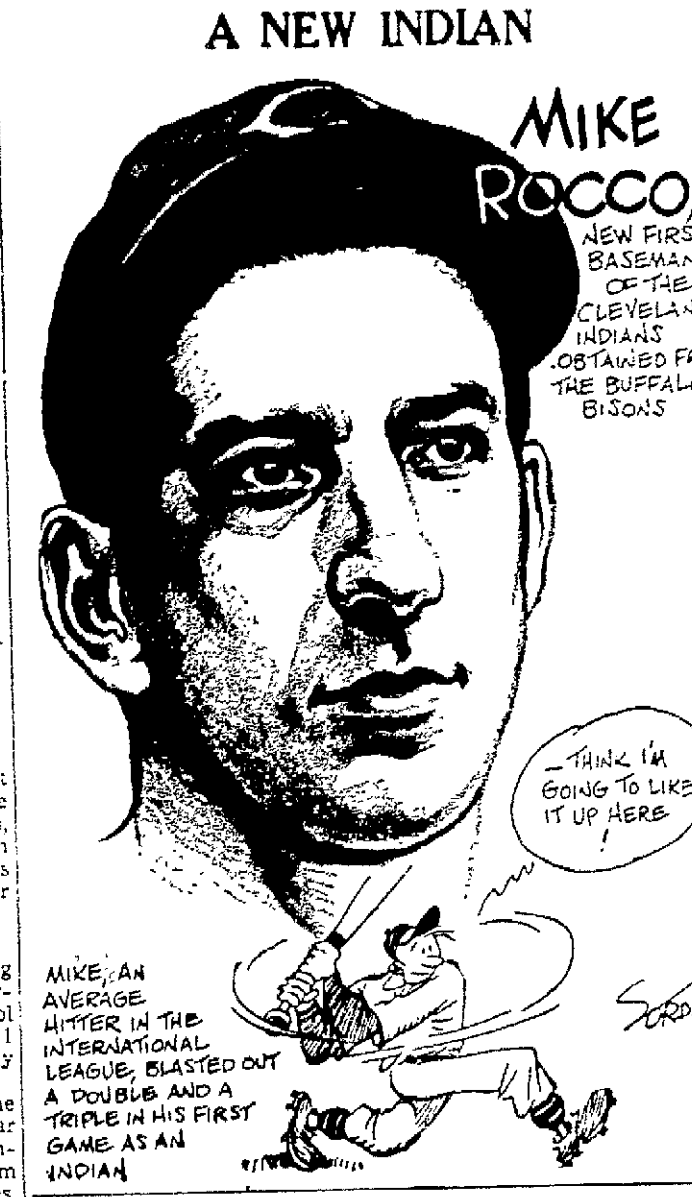

Commission Prexy's Views

Elmer Shaw, the president of the softball commission this year, gave approximately the same answer as Mr. Clark to the high-scoring brain-teaser. He said that pitchers don't seem to be able to bear down like they formerly did and have consequently been hit hard and often.

Next softball mogul to give his opinion on the subject was Ray Donahue, manager of the Greenwood team and vice-president of the commission. He believed that the main reason for the floods of runs this year has been the changing of personnel on many teams, thereby disorganizing the squads and delaying the full effectiveness of the teams as units.

One of his views also coincided with Mr. Clark's in that many inexperienced boys playing in the church loop have added to the liberal run making.

A player with a long career in Marion softball is Wade Conkle, manager of the Huber team. He is well informed on softball strategy and the reasons for many odd occurrences in the sport. He told a reporter the following about the ample scoring. "Bad fielding is the main reason for so many runs this year. Many would-be outs have been turned into potential scores because of errors. A secondary reason that is almost as important as the bad fielding is the noticeable drop in the quality of pitchers. There are only a handful of what you would call really top-notch moundsmen around any more."

Wade went on. "A third reason is the bad condition of the infield and outfield in some of the parks. On one of the diamonds grounders are apt to do crazy things. You can't tell where the balls are going at all. Some of the outfielders, too, have had their troubles with high grass. They occasionally have gotten themselves tangled up in trying to catch fly balls."

Blames Fielding

Bill Darnell, another veteran softball player and manager of the Universal Cooler Industrial league representative, agreed with Conkle on the poor fielding angle. He said that innumerable miscues have added greatly to run totals. He also believes that comparative strength of the Industrial league teams has made for big run spurges.

"There are a few of the teams in our league that are a little weak for competition with some of the stronger teams," Darnell said. "The more powerful teams take advantage of their weaker opponents and pile up many runs."

The last person on the list was Marion Mewhorter, present secretary of the softball commission and program director of the Y. M. C. A. Mewhorter's opinion on the run-subject was somewhat different than those of the other interviewees. He said, "Most of the softball teams have not as yet become organized sufficiently. The players did not have as much pre-season practice as they have been used to in the past. Scoring rains delayed the opening of the season two weeks and prevented any practice sessions."

Mewhorter supplemented his statement with the following. "The players have not become familiarized with the abilities and characteristics of the various hitters. They do not know where to play the respective batters and therefore many balls that should have been outs have fallen safely into the hands. The players can not size up the situation when a tough hitter comes to the plate."

Condition of Fields

A secondary reason to the above was the same as Conkle's view on the condition of the fields. Mewhorter commented that many balls have gone into the outfield and have been lost in the high grass. Many home runs and other extra base hits have been made in this way, he said.

Players may settled down as the season progresses and the scores decrease to more conservative levels. At the present time, however, the batters are still getting more than their quota of hits and unusual amounts of runs are being tabulated in the scorebooks.

Four Brewer Batters Advance to Top Ten

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 26—On the crest of Milwaukee's winning surge last week, four Brewer batters worked their way into the "top ten" ranking of the American association, with Grey Clarke leading the uplift by belting out 11 hits in 25 times at bat to move into a tie with his teammate, Hershel Martin, for the leadership.

Clarke, in third place a week ago, hiked his average from .352 to .372 in statistics computed through Wednesday's games. He also topped the league in number of hits, 70, runs-batted-in, 42, and in his five triples put him in a tie in that specialty with Steve Barach of Louisville and Ed Morgan of Indianapolis.

Martin, holder of the best batting average all season, found himself pressed after connecting only five times in 17 appearances which lowered his mark from .385 to .372.

This pair of campaigners was followed by Alan Zarilla of Toledo, with .351; Howard Schultz, St. Paul, .323; Phil Enright, Indianapolis, .321; Phil Weintraub, Toledo, .315; Don Johnson, Milwaukee, .305; Joe Moore, Indianapolis, .304; Bill Norman, Milwaukee, .301, and Allen Hunt, St. Paul, .299.

LaRue Soldier INDIANS BACK Wins 8 Battles TIE FOR THIRD All With Gloves POUNDING CHIS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 26—The Cleveland Indians, who were back in a tie for third place in the American league, took their perennial victims, the Chicago White Sox.

The team that went from eighth to third place in the league last night, Jake Wade, climbed back last night with a 2 to 1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Another game today on doubleheader Sunday may see the Tribe a better toehold in the upper regions of the standings, for the eastern crowd was expected for a 15-game stand-off Wednesday.

Left-handed Al Smith won his fifth victory against the Sox last night. Jake Wade, who lasted one-third of an inning during which he issued bases on balls allowed a committed an error.

Joe Haynes, who was Wade, was more effective in the Sox were unable to overtake the Indians who scored more in the fourth and in the seventh.

Cleveland racked up eight with Buddy Rosar the pitcher hitting safely twice. Sox yielded eight hits to Cleveland. The Sox scored first in the second inning on a double by Apple and a single by Kuehl and tallied again in the fifth.

Guy Curtright, rookie fielder, singled in the sixth to make it the 21st game in which he has hit safely.

INDIANAPOLIS LOSES BUT RETAINS MARGIN

Milwaukee Loses, Too, So Standings About the Same.

By The Associated Press

If Milwaukee could win when Indianapolis was losing, the American association pennant race wouldn't be so top heavy in favor of the Indians.

The Brewers went through a 10-game winning streak only to find themselves as far out of the lead as ever. Last night the Kansas City Blues knocked over Milwaukee for the second straight time while last-place Louisville was beating Indianapolis. Thus, the Tribe maintained its three-game lead.

The Colonels launched a 12-hit attack, including four doubles and a triple to bounce Indianapolis 5 to 4.

Tommy Rife struck out 10 batters and rationed seven hits to give Kansas City a 4-3 decision over the Brewers.

It took Columbus 12 innings to nab an 8-7 verdict from Toledo. With the bases loaded and two out, Joe Garagiola singled Chat Wieceore home with the deciding tally. The 17-year-old catcher's timely blow meant defeat for Big Bill Sensoth who had stolen the show by poring the entire route and displaying some terrific hitting.

In the fourth one-run victory of the night, Minneapolis edged out St. Paul, 3 to 2.

"Five Graves To Cairo" Opens at Palace Sunday

Franchot Tone and Anne Baxter Take Leads in Story of Desert Warfare.

"Five Graves to Cairo" starring Franchot Tone and Anne Baxter opens Sunday at the Palace theater and continues through Wednesday.

The thrilling story of how a British tank corps, staggered by a flea-bitten desert, was saved by the Desert Fox, Erich von Stroheim, and helped lose the continent of Africa is dramatically told in this screen play.

Franchot Tone as Cpl. Bramble, who leads a tank corps, staggers, falling into a flea-bitten desert, and finds that he is but a small figure ahead of the German army. With it's victories, he is saved by Marshall Rommel, played by Erich von Stroheim. Tone, with the help of Akim Tamiroff, the hotel keeper, and Ann Baxter, the French chambermaid, learns the secret of the "five graves," a potent weapon on which Rommel counts heavily to aid in the conquest of Egypt. Tone gets through to the British lines with the aid of Anne's sacrifice, reveals the secret, and the march on Cairo is stemmed.

George Murphy, Anne Shirley, and Carole Landis are the stars of "The Powers Girl" and will start Thursday and continue through Saturday.

Ann Shirley is cast as Ellen Evans, a small-town gal who is discharged from the local high school because she appears in a compromising magazine photograph.

graph. Ellen heads for New York to join her sister, Kay, played by Miss Landis. Things begin to happen and Ellen is attracted to Jerry Hendricks, George Murphy.

Alvin Karpis does a realistic job of impersonating the beauty connoisseur, John R. Powers; the Powers' girls, in person, are gorgeous to beam upon and merit the name "long-stemmed American beauties." Dennis Day puts over some tuneful songs and Benny Goodman and his orchestra provide a grand musical background.

My Sister Eileen To Be Shown at State Theater

"My Sister Eileen" starring Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne and "Sons of the Pioneers" with Roy Rogers will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

The first is a hilarious comedy and shows the Misses Russell and Blair as Ohio's Ruth and Eileen Sherwood, respectively. Ruth is reasonably level-headed and she wants to be a writer. Eileen is phenomenal, a blond bombshell, a personality and she wants to be an actress. As the editor of New York's most sophisticated magazine, Aherne helps both girls achieve their ambitions—but not until they have involved themselves and him in a series of delicious complications.

Sharing the bill is "Sons of the Pioneers" starring Roy Rogers. "That Uncertain Feeling," starring Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas, and "Roaring Frontiers" with Bill Elliott and Tex Ritter will play Tuesday and Wednesday. Jinx Falkenburg and Joan Davis in "Sweetheart of the Fleet" and "Underground Rustlers" starring the Range Busters will start Thursday and continue through Saturday.

we are rapidly making this man, already the symbol of French national resistance, the symbol also of French, and not only of French but of European, independence. The consequences may not be underestimated in Washington or in London. It is a very serious business to deny to a great power, even though it is for the time being weak, the sovereign right to choose the officers who command its sons on the field of battle.

Let us not overlook now, before it is too late and the matter is irreparable, that we are pursuing a policy which will estrange the French nation from the British and ourselves. Let us not imagine that the real of Europe, which has always looked at France, is not watching earnestly how we treat France.

If we pursue a policy which estranges France and divides her, there will be no great friendly power in the whole of Europe from the Atlantic ocean to the frontier of Soviet Russia. But there will be a focus of disorder and of antagonism which bodes only ill for our dearest hopes.

"Jitterbugs" on Ohio Bill

Laurel and Hardy in Antics:

OWL Picture Shares

Program.

"Jitterbugs" starring Laurel and Hardy is now playing at the Ohio theater and continuing through Monday. The couple are at their best in the new picture and hilarity reigns as the team member of the team goes through his famous "double take" routine, while the round Hardy is good for a laugh any time.

The story has the boys cast as wandering minstrels of jive, replete in super-toot suits. They take up with a fast-talking "con" man who gets them in a jam at a county carnival. Just when things look blackest, they find an "out" which only serves to get them in still more trouble.

Vivian Blaine and Bob Bailey handle the romantic portion and the entire show is a session of jive and fun with a generous portion of songs sung by Miss Blaine. Sharing the bill with "Jitterbugs" is "Prelude to War." It is released through the Office of War Information and is a full length feature depicting the Axis partners and showing just what we are fighting for.

Through means of the newsreel files, captured German, Italian and Japanese films as well as carefully documented and reconstructed scenes, the picture lays bare ten years of unprovoked aggression.

The camera shows us two worlds—one where freedom has been fought for and where the other where the people turned over their rights to dictators, who promptly sped their preparations for war with the "Soft" United Nations.

"Coney Island" starring Betty Grable, Cesar Romero, and George Montgomery will start Tuesday and play through Thursday.

Against the gay background of New York's fun center, Romero plays the part of a boardwalk cafe owner who doesn't allow scruples of friendships to stand in his way when business is concerned. George Montgomery is cast as Romero's ex-partner and Betty Grable is the romantic interest of both leading men.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE is only one way to stop his face mirrored the anger and disgust he felt. When I had come down with the cold, he spread out his feet and began to pace up and down the room.

"We are not amused," I quoted loftily, though my own laughter muscles were quivering. "When you have quite finished doing your exercises, let me know."

I lifted the magazine to shield my face, and Dicky appealed to Katharine.

"What would you advise doing with her, Katharine? Would you take a hickory stick to her, or offer her a lollipop?"

"I think I'd take up another magazine," Katharine chuckled, adding treacherously: "She's dying to talk to you."

"If she is," he retorted, "she ought to be made a chief in the camouflage department. But I can wait indefinitely. I'm fanned for my infinite patience."

Katharine nodded, and I put down my magazine.

"A fine story like that deserves, —I don't know just what," I commented. "But if you have any other questions before Father gets back, I shall be glad to answer them."

Dicky looked at me with sudden intentness.

"You might give me a 'point by point' description of this Hayes baby," he said, "also any incidents in her career which might prove to be holes in her armor. I don't seem to remember much about her, before the present performance."

Katharine rose abruptly.

"That's because Madge is loyal almost to a fault to her friends," she said, a bit unsteadily. "But, of course, she has to talk now. Do you mind, you two, if I go into the bedroom and lie down for a little while? I don't feel quite up to talking."

"Of course not," we both assured her, but as she went out of the room, closing the door after her, Dicky looked after her with narrowed eyes.

"She evidently doesn't feel up to listening, either," he said. "But she gave you the go-ahead signal, so let's have the low-down."

Couldn't Tell Before

"Just the thought of that woman does things to Katharine," I said, "and I don't wonder. Neither will you when you hear all about it. You've had bits of it, but the whole story was never mine to tell."

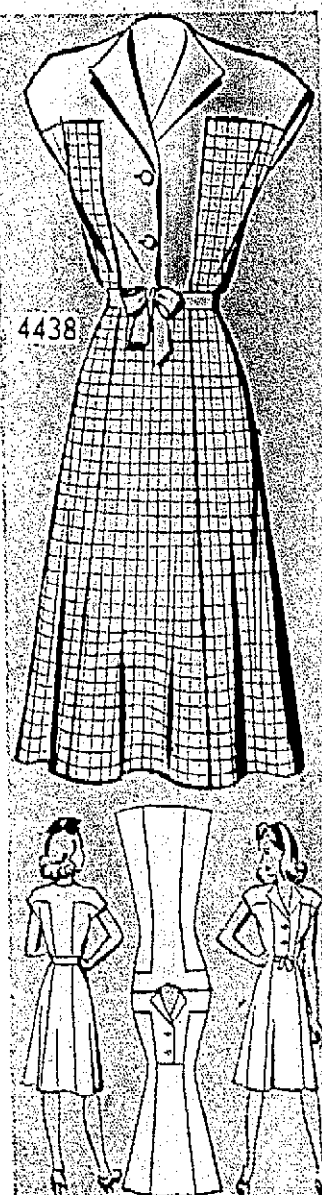

"I understand that perfectly," he said, smiling at me. "After all, there's nothing in the marriage cove about spilling other people's secrets to your husband. Besides, I probably would have been bored to silly tears. But not now. Go ahead. Shoot the works. Don't miss a cartridge."

I took a deep breath, and went back to the first time the name of Ruth Hayes had come into Katharine's life and mine, for she had been compelled to turn to me after a while for counsel. Then I went on with the case history of the "wilderness woman," up to her present attempts at blackmail, and I feared, the kidnapping of Katharine as well.

Dicky listened quietly until I had finished my story, although

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, June 27

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a most propitious one, with promise of fulfillment of the fondest hopes, wishes, desires and aspirations, in whatever direction such quest for realization may lead. While pleasure, social and affectional matters may flourish, it is an auspicious time for planning large enterprises, practical and logical thought may assist future action.

Those whose birthday it is and have severe asthma, it was soon proved that the horse serum, or the antioxin, did this and that one dose sensitized the recipient to the second. This phenomenon was called anaphylaxis—the opposite of prophylaxis.

It was seen, too, that this kind of reaction was the same as that of the hives patient to pollen, of the hives patient to strawberries, and of the asthma victim to horse dander. But here no previous sensitization could be proved. To such natural (as opposed to experimental) sensitization was given the name allergy, which means "another kind of energy."

It implies that a food which would have one kind of energy for the person allergic to it.

So when a person says he is allergic to work, it means literally that he spends a great deal of energy doing something else.

may have excellent prospects for putting over their most ambitious plans, aspirations and practical objectives, wherever they may lead, under an expansive, productive and progressive urge to attain major results.

A child born on this day should be richly endowed with talents, skills, ideas and energies to secure fame, fortune, enhanced personal prestige and popularity, in business and social life. It's affectional and family life should thrive.

For Monday, June 28

Monday's astrological forecast should be a fortunate one for the surprising or sudden realization of many desired hopes and wishes that might lie in the fields of the unique, novel or exceptional. Well organized strategies supported by sound logic as well as practical constructive ability, might lead to dramatic heights of achievement.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a most propitious time for a surprising and dramatic attainment of their fondest hopes and wishes. This probably in the realm of the practical and substantial, although it may be enhanced by unusual, novel or unique developments.

A child born this day may be original and practical, richly endowed in creative abilities of merit.
